Imagine you have moved to the North, or to a new place, and you would like to write to someone back home.

What will you tell them about your new life?
Where do you live? What is your home like?
Describe your new friends.
Do you have a new school? What is it like?
Describe your new neighborhood, its stores, the food, your new neighbors.

Panel No. 33 of The Migration Series shows a woman in the South reading a letter from a friend or family member who has migrated to the North.

Write a letter!

Date: ........................................

Dear ........................................,

........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................

Sincerely, .........................................................